If you have been continuously confined here for one year, you may request an updated physical exam. This update will be provided without a fee charge. The service must be requested in writing and directed to the medical department supervisor.

4.5.1 Sick Call

If you want to be seen by the medical staff you must fill out a sick call slip in your housing unit. On the sheet you will provide your name, housing assignment, and give the reason you are seeking medical assistance. You will be contacted by medical staff for an assessment. If you are not contacted by medical staff within 24 hours, sign up again.

All medical emergency situations must be brought to the immediate attention of either your Housing Unit Officer or the nearest staff member.

4.5.2 Medication

If you are taking medication when you are committed to the jail the medication may be temporarily discontinued (until the prescription can be verified), changed, or discontinued (upon medical advice).

You are required to consume prescription medication in the presence of medical personnel. Staff are permitted to examine your mouth to ensure compliance. Concealing medication is a serious misconduct and may result in your medication being immediately discontinued.

The Medical Department will maintain a supply of over the counter drugs and issue appropriate quantities to you, if deemed necessary for treatment. Over the counter medication is also available through the commissary and can be purchased at the prevailing commissary rate. Cosmetic medications (dandruff shampoos, lotion, etc.) are not dispensed through the medical department. Some of these articles are available through the commissary.

You must lock yourself into your cell when nurses arrive on your unit to dispense medication and remain locked in until the process is complete.

4.6 Telephone

During your first three to five days of confinement, usually shortly after commitment, you will be permitted one free phone call to notify friends and family of your whereabouts. Staff will provide you with at least four attempts to contact friends and family members. If you attempt to, but cannot reach your friends/family during the first three to five days of your stay, the jail's obligation to provide free telephone access will be satisfied and you must then use the collect call telephones available to you.

- "Three way calls" are not permitted.
- You may not allow another inmate to use your pin number or phone privileges.
- You may not use another inmate's pin number or phone privileges.

Telephones are provided for your use in housing unit dayrooms. Access to these telephones is available during dayroom free time periods. (Access may be restricted or denied for those in some forms of segregation.)

You will be required to complete a Telephone Request Form at the time of commitment to the jail. This form must be completed in its entirety for you to be approved for use of the telephone system. If you wish to add or delete telephone numbers from your list, you need to resubmit this form, completed in its entirety, and place it in the appropriate box on your housing unit.

A listing of the telephone rates is posted near the telephones on your unit. Should those whom you choose to call in the community fail to pay the bills for this service, you will be held fully responsible for those costs.

1.4 Rights, Privileges, and Responsibilities

1.4,1. Rights

You have the right to:

- be treated impartially and justly;
- a nutritionally adequate diet;
- personal grooming choices regarding appearance, which are limited only by institutional requirements for safety, security, identification, or hygiene;
- receive and send mail, including sealed correspondence with elected officials, attorneys and officers of the court subject to necessary limitations;
- have visits with civilians within the guidelines established for the program;
- be addressed respectfully by staff;
- be supervised by staff, not inmates;
- be free from corporal punishment, deliberate personal injury, deliberate property damage, harassment, or use of excessive force by staff;
- participate in the classification process;
- have access to a grievance system;
- 💥 have access to counsel through unmonitored telephone calls; 💥
- the opportunity for unsupervised visits with your attorney, except where reasons for restriction exist;
- * have access to legal materials; *
- exercise, except dunng quarantine;
- voluntary access to clergy and religious services; and
- have access to health care.

1.4.2. Privileges

Many programs and opportunities are offered to you while you are in custody, in addition to those which are described as rights. These are privileges that may be restricted or denied to you, as a result of abuse of the privilege, unacceptable institutional adjustment, or misconduct. These privileges may include but are not limited to:

- commissary;
- day room activities;
- recreational activities;
- general use of the collect call telephones; and
- participation in programs.

1.4.3 Responsibilities

An inseparable component of all your rights and privileges is responsibility. For example, although you would not wish to be subject of an unreasonable search, you have a responsibility to cooperate with any member of staff who is conducting a search of your cell, room or person. Should you believe that the search was unreasonable, you may file a complaint, after the fact. Generally, your behavior should be the same as what is expected of any member of the community. You should:

- obey orders and directions from all jail staff immediately;
- respect others when speaking to them;
- obey the laws of the civilian community;
- refrain from infringing upon another's rights or privileges;
- cooperate with staff at all times; and
- be familiar with all the rules and regulations of this institution.

Most importantly, be aware that you will be held responsible and accountable for all your actions and behavior while you are here.

2.10 Legal Assistance

The only individuals who are entitled to collect a fee from you for legal services are licensed practicing attorneys or legal service agencies. Many are listed in the telephone directory. It is a rule violation for you to pay/reward or accept payment/reward from another inmate for legal advice or assistance.

If you are unable to afford a private attorney you are eligible for the services of a Public Defender. You may request a form to correspond with a Public Defender from your unit officer. Additionally, you can call collect to the Public Defender's Office from the phones on the housing unit (during times posted on or near the telephones).

For preparation of legal correspondence, paper and other miscellaneous materials may be purchased through the commissary. Typewriters are available for use on housing units. If you have the funds, you may purchase the materials needed to make photocopies from the commissary. (The cost of these materials pays for the use of the copy machine.) Requests by indigent inmates for photocopies will be denied.

The law library is provided with supplies valued at least $500 per year for use by indigent inmates. (One twelfth of these supplies are provided monthly.)

2.11 Video Conferencing

Berks County Jail System has implemented a video conferencing program. It is available to all inmates free of charge. All videos are conducted in a private setting allowing you a one-on-one confidential conversation with your public or private official.

Videos are conducted with the following agencies: Public Defender's Office, Private Attorneys, Domestic Relations, Social Security Office, District Attorney's Office, District Justices and the Berks County Courthouse.

If you wish to speak to any of the above agencies, you may telephone or write a letter to that agency requesting a private video. All scheduling must be completed one day prior to the video. Many of the agencies will automatically schedule a video with you as time permits.

You are expected to act as a mature adult throughout your conference. Aggressive or disruptive behavior will result in the termination of your conference and may lead to disciplinary action.

2.12 Searches

You, your cell room, and your belongings are subject to a full search at any time. This may include the dismantling of items in your possession or areas controlled by you. It may also include a full body search, requiring you to completely disrobe. Your presence during cell room searches is not a legal requirement.

You will be held accountable for any contraband (or damage to jail property) discovered as a result of a search. When moving to a new cell room/area you are responsible for informing staff of any property damage and for turning in any contraband items which you may discover.

When a search is made, you are responsible for cooperating with staff. If you have a complaint, utilize the grievance system after the search.

Internal examination (body cavity) searches may be conducted by authorized medical personnel. You may be detained, under observation, until arrangements can be made for such a search.

ON July 21st, 2014 approx. 1445-1515 I RAMSEY RANDALL hoda Very disgrapting conversation with my attorney Roarke T. Aston Esq. From the Berks Coupty Public Defender's office. In this video conference, Mr. Aston assuredly informed me that my pretrial motions (HABEAS Corpus) will be devited by the Judge because I have counsel. We are still in the midst of my Pretrial proceedings; so, how does he know that ? Even better why do I have a piece of paper (Exhibit A) that Clearly states that I have the RIGHT to file ANY Pretrid motion requesting the type of relief that I sack in a timely fashion; Yet when I follow the rules it still does not got acknowledged? It does not say, If the defendant is represented by course, that the Pretrial motions submitted would be wull and void; or simply put, devised by the judge. Where in the Rules of Criminal Procedure is this even possible? How is this part of a fairtrial? Broot a blatant violation If my due process rights of the fourteenth Amendment (XIV) Of the United States Constitution ? And if it isn't; why not s Does this also not violate The Preamble and Scope of the Rules of Professional Conduct? How am I even supposed to trust my attorney if he knows the decision the wage is going to make before he even makes it 3 And since he "Knows" the judge is going to derry my motion, why hasn't he amended it and refiled it on my behalf? I am corrently represented by the Public Defender's office of Berks county. I amonindigent, Owd I am not able to afford a private attorney. This letter is a formal complaint on the Public Defender Office of Berks County. The attorneys that they have assigned to me have been lack luster in representing me presenting no defense at all for my Preliminary hearing I have been given 3 different attorneys by the Public Defender's office; Not by choice might I add. The Name OF the attorney's are as Follows: Amy Shaffer, Aston Rourk, and Paul Yessler. Mr. Paul Yessler in specific has a very wasty attitude, aggressive tour against me, and a predisposed nation of me pleading guilty. It makes me afraid of the future of my litigations. This is not the first time that I have been represented by the Public Defender's Office and they have not done anything to work as an otherway should. I have yet to confer with which Ever offervey from there & supposed to represent me. I refuse to let them violate my Constitutional rights 66th $14th Amend.) August 5, 2014

Hello Son,

I received all of your letter's and I got the letter about the court thing, unfortunately there was no sample in there. Someone may have removed it, but it never made it way to me. I have been pretty busy and have not really seen anyone, so I am guessing everyone is fine. I see Aunt Rosie's and Uncle Dan at church but have not seen the others. Talked to Devona she was having some car problems, but other than that she is fine. Chrissy, me and the kids went to Knoebles finally after all these years in Reading. It was nice. I tried to talk to Chrissy about what you said, but she is defensive over that guy, so I just decided to back off. But, I have my eyes and ears open. But, pretty much comes down to she has to live her own life just like you do.

That is what I have been trying to explain to you. I am not cutting you off or loving you any less, I have just come to a place where you guys have to live your own lives. If you want my opinion I will give it, but if not I will just keep my opinion to myself.

I do not like going back and forth either, that is another reason why I stopped writing, because I am not doing that anymore, because you have already made up in your mind. But, I will say this as long as you keep rehearsing old things from the past in your mind you just keep giving life to it. When you decided to take charge and stop letting the anger and all control you it will be better. All the stuff you keep playing over cannot be fixed or changed. It does not make it better. That does not mean it did not happen, it means just that it can't be changed. It's that simple.

Also, wanted to let you know some things you try to keep secret are really not a secret. I already knew you were seeing Emily and I could care less, because I had already stated what I knew and whether you and her stayed together or not it was none of my affair. All that mattered to me was that you were okay. I do not have to like it or her because it's your life. Be with whomever you would like. Next I had already known she was pregnant and for some reason I do not expect it was the first time, but the only time you knew. Mind you I have no proof of that it is just a feeling I had.

I hope when you go to court you really do beat your case and I will help you the best I know how, but since my house hold so many bad memories for you and you cannot have people in and out my house I think the best thing is that you get a room that way you can do all you like to do and have over whomever you want. I have tried to help and since the room I have is so small I do not want you to feel cramped.

For the record I am not being stubborn but, I am very cautious. And because you trust certain people does not mean I must. I do not like unknown, random people in my house. It has nothing to do with Chrissy or Devona or you. I was the same way when I was married and your father and he had band members come over. I was this way long before any of the stuff happened when you all were young. I goes back to my childhood I guess because my mother worked 3pm-11pm and we could not have anyone in the house while she was gone. That is why Devona & Chrissy did all the sneaking people in and out, so I would not know. This is me and all me and it will not change. You may know them, but that gives me no comfort. I am not comfortable with certain people in my house. So, if my rules upset you there is nothing I can do about it. And truth be told I know you like music, promote music and all that other stuff, but I am not even comfortable with all that loud music in my house. Too much, swearing, and such. I do not like it.

So, I am not trying to see you on the street or nothing like that, but something just will not change. So, you have to decide if you want to deal with or live somewhere else.

I am supposed to start Seminary in two weeks and I just do not want all this stuff going on and I am so sorry for all your anger, but I am not your problem. You are your problem, because you kept it all inside. You have told me what you wanted me to know so far. You are the one who decides when and if you will talk to me. I cannot change the past, beside telling you I am not the same person. The past will not change, sorry for that, but you have to decide if you still want to rehearse it. You keep saying you are angry about so much. Okay, but are you going to stay angry all your life? Because, if you keep replaying the stuff you will continue to be mad and angry you will never be happy. There are things from my pass I am angry about as well, but I do not rehearse them. And if I think about them long enough I could really get angry. But, I do not talk about them, because I refuse to give them life or control over me. Only thing I am guilty of is "Not knowing".

As for arguing and going back and forth when you know someone does that to you. They know how to take you there and what buttons to push and do so on a constant basis. That is a person you need to stay far away from. Example your father exactly why we are not together today. That is a form of abuse and people do not recognize it. Those days are over for me. I have no patients nor do I have any time to argue, because I found out know ones wins, sometime it's better to agree to disagree or find a common ground. Pick your battles so to speak.

But, I feel with you is that you want someone to take responsibility for everything that happened to you and I just do not know how to get you to understand that the best you may get is an apology. And you have to accept that that is all there is and move forward.

So, I wanted you to know I am doing fine and the girls Chrissy & Devona are fine. Capri is good and everybody is just preparing to go back to school, except for Chris of course. He is walking and yelling at everybody, but he is cool.

I hope you are getting whatever help you can. Sunday School has moved to Saturday morning and since I may have a Seminary class on Saturday morning not making no promises to come up there. I know and understand all you say about this law suit thing, but I am sure you counted the cost before you pressed forward with it, because I know nothing about it nor understand it all, but I am sure you are well versed with all the in's and out's. As always my prayers are with you and I AM PRAYING...MORE THAN YOU KNOW!!!
